

An aerial photograph of a park in Budapest. In the upper left, a large, historic building with multiple domes and spires, likely the Buda Castle, is partially visible through the trees. To its left is a calm lake with a few small boats. The park is filled with lush green trees and winding paths. In the lower right, a modern, white, organic-shaped building with a perforated facade, featuring numerous circular and irregular holes, stands out. The building's interior is visible through the openings, showing a warm, orange-brown color.
